UI/UX Design Task 1 (2026)

Target Users

Name: AfroBloom Studio
Slogan: Where Natural Hair Flourishes
Logo:

Idea behind business: There is a shortage of hair stylist, hair products and general information about natural hair. Many people with curly and coily hair struggle to take care of their hair due to this. Some find information and routines on the internet, but most people struggle to keep up as there is just an abundance of information that usually seems unattainable to them. AfroBloom is going to serve as a hub where people with natural hair and come for treatments and styling by professionals trained to work with natural hair, hair products and tools designed to help natural hair growth and retention, as well as advice on how to develop a hair routine that promotes healthy hair.
These users:

- South African women with curly/coily hair
- Want to learn how maintain and grow natural hair
- Want professionals that prioritize health of hair over quick styling
- Want accessible hair products, tools, advice and routines tailored and designed for afro textured hair

User Intent: I want a salon that specializes in natural hair and can help me grow and maintain a healthy head of curly/coily hair properly.

Layout Structure

Navigation Bar: Provides quick access to Home, Hair Servies, Shop, and Contact Us pages.
About Us Section: This section introduces the salon as a trusted space dedicated to natural hair care. It communicates its purpose of simplifying healthy hair journeys by offering expert services, personalized guidance, and accessible products. The content is concise and emotionally engaging, helping users quickly understand the salon's values while building trust and connection.
Hero Section: The section introduces the salon's strong value proposition and service positioning as well as clear call-to-action buttons such as "Book Hair Services" and "Browse Shop".
Trusted by/ Testimonials Section: This section displays reviews from customers and clients who have booked the salons hair services or bought their products. This builds trust and encourages new customers to try the salon.

Hair Services Page: Provides a detailed breakdown of the hair services offered by the salon (braiding services, hair treatments, styling services, consultations) with a as “Book Now” call-to-action button.
Contact Us Page: Simple inquiry form for direct contact with the business.
Footer: Includes important information such as the salon’s address, operating hours, contact details, and social media pages links.

UX Decisions:

Clear Visual Hierarchy: The design organizes information into structured sections to guide users smoothly through the website.
Strong Call-to-Action Placement: Important actions like “Book Hair Services”, Browse Shop”, and “Contact Us” are prominently placed throughout the layout.
Trust Building Elements: Testimonials and ratings help reduce hesitation and increase user confidence.
Simplified Content: Information is broken into short, easy-to-read sections to avoid overwhelming users.
Clean and Modern Interface: Layouts are designed to stack cleanly, with large buttons and easy navigation. Website interface works for desktop and mobile layout.
Emotional Design: Soft, natural visuals and language create a sense of care, comfort, and confidence.

How the Design Improves Conversations

Immediate Clarity: Users instantly understand what AfroBloom offers and who it’s for.
Trust Reinforcement: Testimonials and consistent messaging build credibility.
Repeated CTAs: Multiple booking opportunities increase the likelihood of action.
User-Cantered Messaging: The design speaks directly to the user’s pain points (confusion, lack of trust, hair care struggles).
Accessible Contact Options: Phone number, email address, inquiry form and social media allow customers to interact with businesses easily.

Tools Used

Canva - UI/UX design
Microsoft Word - Design rationale document
GitHub - Project documentation and sharing

Conclusion

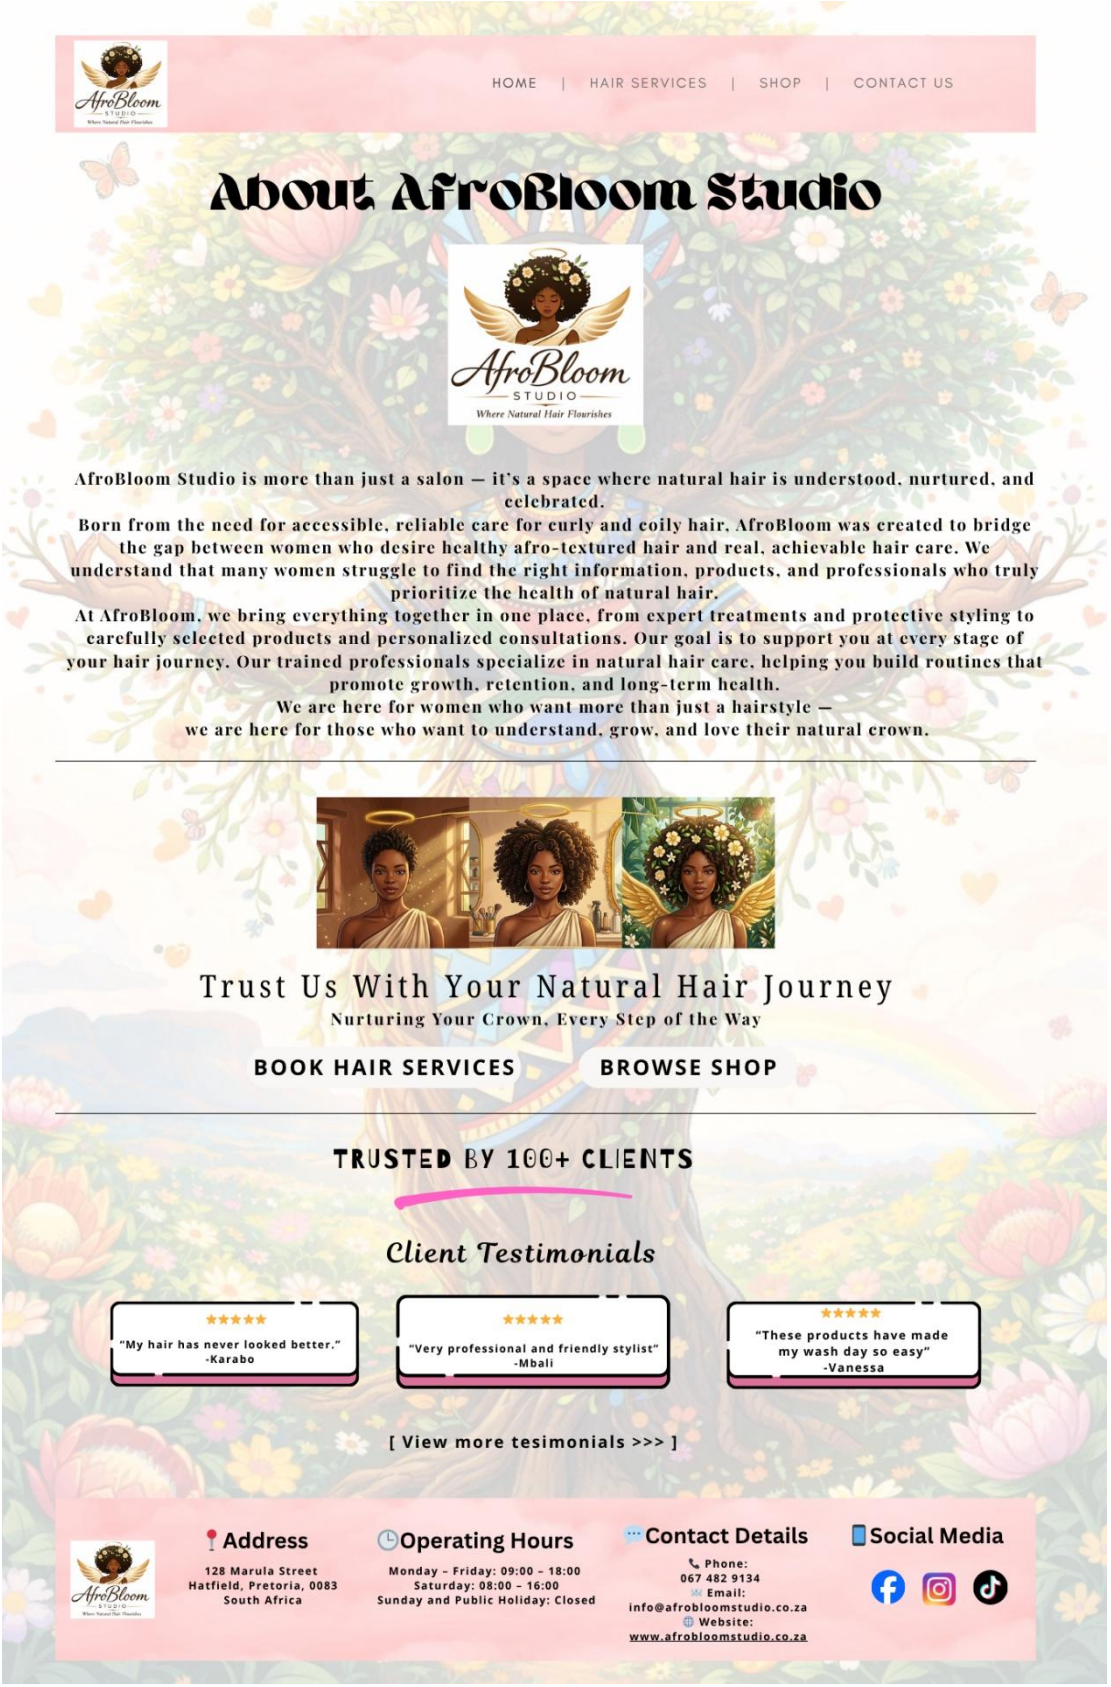
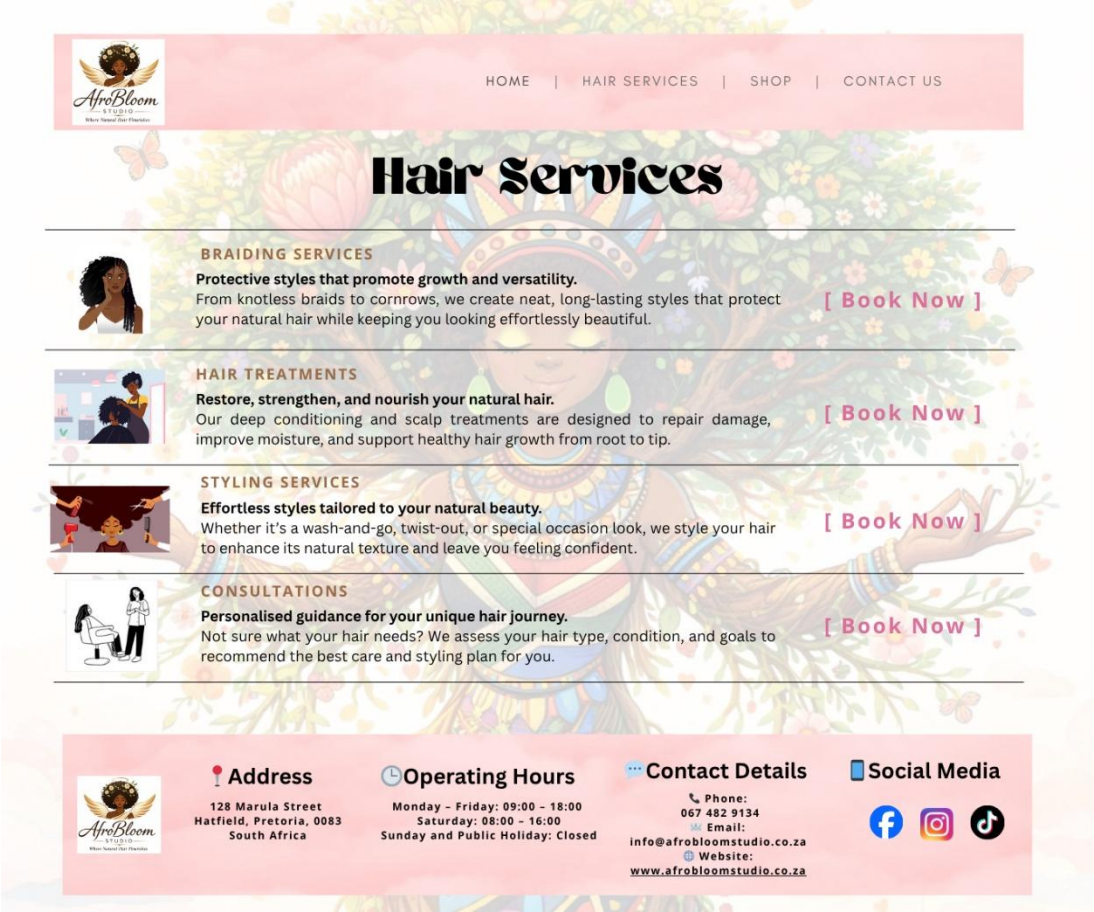
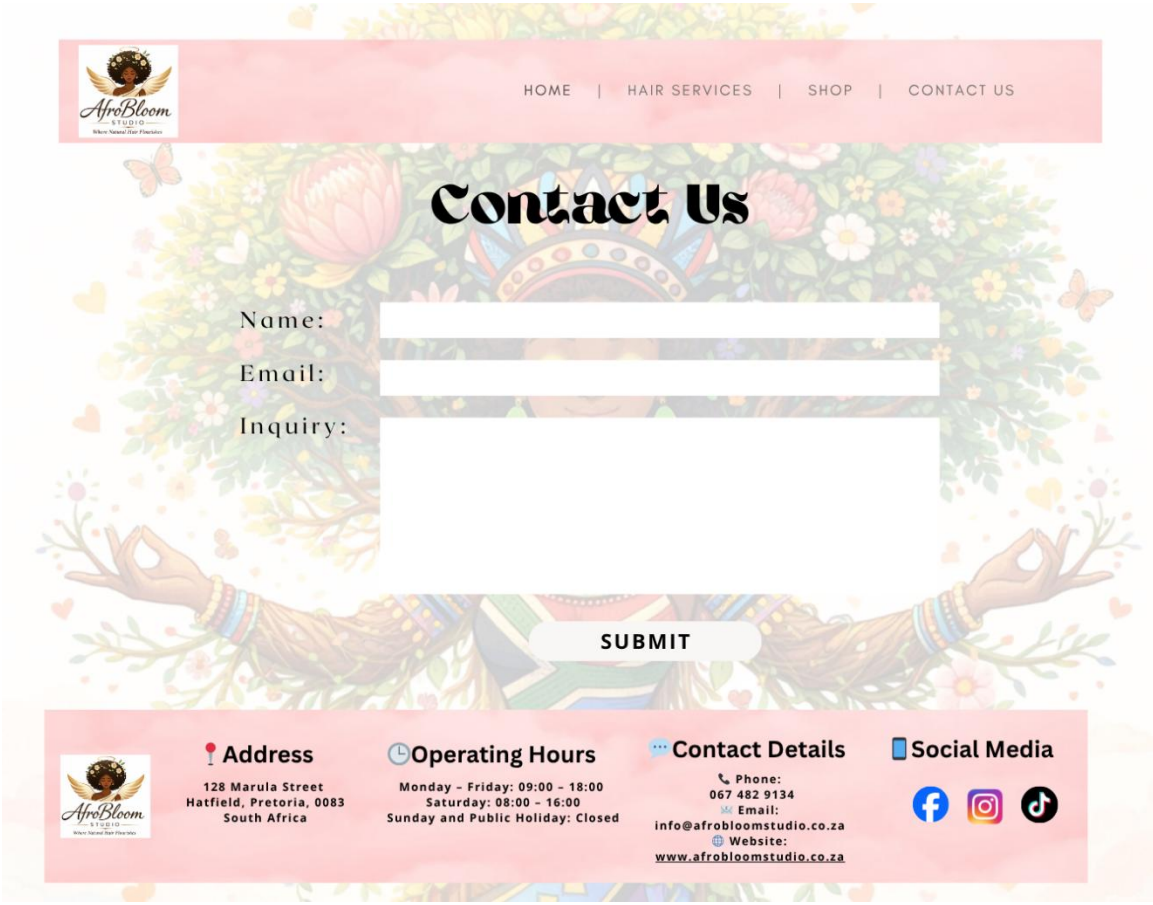
The AfroBloom Studio website is designed not just as a visual interface, but as a conversion tool. By combining clear messaging, trust-building elements, and intuitive navigation, the design creates a seamless experience that encourages users to confidently take the next step in their natural hair journey.

Interface Design:







MaleDuma LeLosa